

Problems with Agile

- Hard to draw up legally binding contracts - a full specification is never written in advance
- Good for green-field dev - what about brownfield dev, legacy systems and maintenance ?
- Works well for small co-located teams, but what about large distributed development ?
- Relies on knowledge of developers in team - what if they aren't around (holidays, illness, turnover) ?